

Co-Ed Fashion Hints

by ZALUD

Black cat's paws oft times thought far too severe for the miss and youthful woman, the tendency being to consider it only fit for those of more mature years. While there is a great deal of truth in this point of view, still much depends on the way the material is handled. There are so many occasions when black is the only thing one can wear, that I have designed the little dress shown on the sketch today to fit just those needs.

DIGNIFIED YET YOUTHFUL

There is no reason why a black frock should not have all the charm and piquancy of a dress of gayer color so I have made this tight bodice in basque effect that ties in back with a huge bow and streamers. Tiny ruffled edging sets off the camouflage pockets, which are thoroughly practical and just the sort that a real girl loves to stick her hands in. The collar is of white net trimmed with three rows of Valenciennes lace, and one may wear on the neck a ribbon bow of either black, or lighter hues if it fits the mood. The cuffs are turned back and form in points just on the elbow. You will notice that we have accomplished the double desire of style with practicability, evolving a gown that speaks of youth in every line, while retaining a graceful adherence to the mode.

This is a season when women who delight in youthful looking clothes may well rejoice, for the trend of styles was never more gracefully adapted to things picturesque. Hats turn saucily up from the face, shoes are saucy and pert, parasols are cunningly contrived to combine utility and beauty, and even the jewelers have joined the throng of those intent on making this spring a typically happy one for the Co-Ed miss.

ENURESIS

and ENURESOL

Enuresis, commonly called bed wetting in children, incontinence of urine in adults, is more common in boys than in girls. Enuresis has been considered incurable when it persists beyond puberty.

Incontinence of urine is more common in women than in men. Constant or very frequent micturition indicates some abnormality of disease.

Enuresis may be caused by parasites, the secretion of a large amount of urine, or by a defective bladder (gravel), crystals, irritation of the penis, worms, urinary proteins, sleep, or by a general disturbance from late or unwholesome meals, but the most frequent cause is no doubt a defective innervation of the genito-urinary organs.

This theory has been proven by the uniformly good results obtained with Enuresol in young and old people, as the following typical cases of our records show:

Case No. 46. R. D., age 14, has always been a bed wetter, although apparently well otherwise. Her parents tried many treatments, medical and mechanical, without benefit. Five days after beginning Enuresol she stopped wetting the bed, but continued the treatment four weeks longer and has had no return of the trouble since. Four years ago N. C., eight years old, never missed wetting the bed every night. Took Enuresol and after the first week did not wet the bed any more.

The case of Mrs. W., age 44, is also worth mentioning. Has never had a full night's sleep, having to get up four to eight times a night. Visited Hot Springs, mud baths, and was operated on twice, in two different hospitals, without benefit. Six weeks of Enuresol cured her completely, three years ago, and has had no return of the troublesome nuisance.

The case of E. J., twenty-five years old, is no less interesting. For over twenty-five years E. J. suffered with incontinence of urine day and night. As he grew older the trouble increased, having to pass water every half hour and oftener. Had a stroke of paralysis, which increased the trouble to such an extent that only a few drops of bloody urine could be voided, with intense pain, causing surgeons to suspect cancer of the bladder. Being placed on Enuresol at the dose of two tablets every two hours with a glass of cool water or milk, the tenesmus disappeared in twelve hours and had a good night's sleep the next night, and fully recovered perfect health in the next three months. Mr. E. J. is now 85 years old and at last report was still alive and well.

It is important to regulate the diet, and over-eating, coffee and sour food and drinks, pickles, vinegar, lemonade, should be avoided.

In many cases it happens that one box is enough to obtain a cure. This remedy is absolutely safe, harmless, being a tonic for the kidneys and nervous system, it is dependable for weak, nervous, restless, slow-growing, languid children.

A fair trial of Enuresol will convince anyone of its value.
